FROM THE DESK OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, DR. MARISELA MÁRQUEZ

This Annual Report is a synopsis, a taste, really a smattering of morsels of the generative work accomplished by students and staff on behalf of Associated Students during the 2009-2010 academic calendar year. Associated Students' work is not bound within any one academic calendar year since our mission is to keep pace with the needs of students. However, our daily work (displayed in this report) seeks to resonate with the expectations of the current day students while keeping present the intentions of students from prior years. This annual report opens with the beginning of a new horizon for Isla Vista as demonstrated by the Pardall renewal project completed in 2009. With its completion Associated Students initiated it and renewed their commitment to the IV community by sponsoring a Fall carnival, Pardall Carnival. That day is featured prominently in our annual report both because it was a great day, which required a great deal of work, but also because it symbolized something larger than itself. These efforts are noteworthy because they substantially signal a recommitment by all of us to continuously contribute and improve our local community of IV. Additionally, the effort itself, led by students, opened the doors to local area school children to the possibility of education. From my perspective, these moments are actually quite rare and in every way can deliver a larger message that UCSB is also their university. I saw local IV children and families, primarily Latinos, partaking in fun together at Pardall Carnival. These efforts may seem trivial in the grand scheme of things, but in fact, they are not trivial. They are important because they establish common ground and make tangible the current student's commitment to keeping this university public—and accessible—a goal, which students articulate in many other additional ways throughout the year. The goal of keeping UC public is substantial and particularly so in 2009 as one of the top 25 stories that was LEAST reported as identified by Project Censored was the fact that US schools are more segregated today than in the 1950s. A report issued in January 2009, authored by Gary Orfield, a UCLA scholar released in The Civil Rights Project demonstrating the data supporting this claim. In this report, he states, "the most severe segregation in public schools is in the Western states including California—not in the South, as many people believe. Unequal education leads to diminished access to college and future jobs". "Divided We Fail: Segregation and Inequality in the Southland's Schools" which can be found at : civilrightsproject.ucla.edu/news/press-releases/2011/separate-and-unequal-schools-pervasive-in-southern-california

As the challenges of 2009-2010, including addressing growing inequities throughout the State of California, unfolded for UCSB students, you will see that they seek to reach a balance between addressing needs of our present day student population with an eye toward the future. In addition to addressing issues of access to public education their efforts in educating each other and themselves include: worldwide issues affecting the economy, the environment and human rights. Please read through this annual report and ENJOY!

PARDALL CARNIVAL

This year's festival showcased over 50 organizations. Some of the groups featured there were CALPIRG, the Environmental Affairs Board, the Santa Barbara Fire Department, SB Menus, Community Affairs Board, KCSB, Students for Justice in Palestine and the Wellness Program.

OUR PLANET, OUR PROBLEM

NEW BIKE SHOP

The new A.S. Bike Shop was designed with energy efficiency and sustainability in mind. Skylights light the interior spaces and energy efficient bulbs provide the remainder of the lighting.

NATIONAL EQUALITY MARCH

This march and rally in Washington DC drew over a quarter of a million mostly younger marchers to urge President Obama and Congress to move more quickly to give gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender citizens equal rights and protections under federal law.

HAITI RELIEF

On January 12, 2010 a catastrophic earthquake struck Port au Prince the capital of Haiti killing over 230,000 people and leaving over a million people homeless. With characteristic caring and decisiveness, students working through Legislative Council and the Environmental Affairs Board launched a fundraiser including a benefit concert in Storke Plaza, that raised almost $25,000. Legislative Council voted to provide up to $25,000 in matching funds which resulted in a donation of $49,925 raised in 2 weeks. Half was given directly to the Lambi Fund of Haiti, an aid organization focused on long-term sustainability and agriculture, and half to Direct Relief International, a highly regarded organization headquartered in Goleta that sends medical supplies to stricken areas both in the United States and around the world. In addition, Legislative Council sent $2,000 from a special projects fund to the American Red Cross and $1,200 from a Haiti Relief Concert to UCSB Black Studies' Haiti Relief Fund. Taken together these efforts have contributed to an ongoing UC wide commitment to the long term rebuilding and development of Haiti.

A.S. FAST FACT

AS Recycling collects about 4000 lbs. of recycling each week or about 40,000 lbs. per quarter. A.S. Recycling strives to reduce consumption, reuse new materials, and most importantly, buy recycled material.

Associated Students lost one of its biggest supporters this year with the passing of Robert “Bob” Lorden on October 17 at the age of 88. Lorden dedicated his career to A.S. and UCSB after arriving on campus as a freshman in 1946. As a student he participated in a variety of campus activities, including serving for two years on Legislative Council. Upon graduation he was offered the position of Assistant Graduate Manager of Associated Students and later served as Graduate Manager of Athletics and Director of Student Activities for several years. Bob ultimately became Executive Director of ASUCSB, which at that time included overseeing the Bookstore and Food Services, after a national search in 1963. As Executive Director, Lorden was instrumental in planning and managing the new University Center, which opened in 1966. He also managed the new Storke Student Media Center and planned the opening of the Events Center. Bob retired in 1980 after serving UCSB for over 30 years.

Successfully steering AS through these pivotal years, which saw UCSB’s dramatic growth into a major research university and A.S.’s role on campus change fundamentally beginning in the mid 1960s, is an extraordinary achievement. To honor Lorden, A.S. created the A.S. Lifetime Achievement in Civic Engagement Award to recognize recipients who have shown uncommon dedication to Associated Students. Lorden was unanimously chosen to be the recipient of the first award, for his own extraordinary dedication to students and the community over many years.

Lorden’s legacy also lives on at A.S. as the Robert L. Lorden Award for Outstanding Leadership in Service to Associated Students. The annual award was made possible by a generous donation from Lorden in 2005. This year’s recipient is Janelle Mungo.

A.S. Executive Director Dr. Marisela Márquez represented A.S. at the memorial service commemorating Bob’s life held at the Faculty Club.

OUR PLANET, OUR PROBLEM: APPROACHES TO A CLIMATE SOLUTION

Climate Conference in Copenhagen and EAB conference. In December, twelve students from UCSB flew to Copenhagen, Denmark to attend the United Nations Climate Conference. Funded by A.S., these students had a unique opportunity to network and experience the breadth of the international environmental community through attending both the official U.N. Summit and the alternative People's Summit. The Copenhagen conference was attended by over 100 world leaders, though it ultimately failed to achieve its stated goal of creating a new internationally agreed upon set of climate measures to further the process that began with the Kyoto Protocol of 1997.

SIX

However, as part of what they brought back to UCSB, the A.S. delegation and 11 other students, who had been in Copenhagen independently, organized the highly successful Environmental Affairs Board produced and A.S. funded conference "Our Planet, Our Problem: Approaches to a Climate Solution" in Corwin Pavilion. The conference provided a forum for discussion of climate change and sustainability closer to home. Students invited a range of speakers for a one-day series of panels. Speakers addressed how local individuals are involved at the grassroots level; how business, science, and technology are advancing a new green economy; and how government initiatives can provide solutions and engage youth and activists to affect changes in the policy arena. Speakers ranged from Dave Davis, CEO & Executive Director of the local Community Environmental Council, to John Fielder, President of Southern California Edison, to California State Senator Fran Pavley. Conference attendees were given a variety of perspectives for consideration. The conference was a testament to the professionalism of UCSB students and their recognition of the complexity of addressing an issue like climate change with its serious global ramifications.

A.S. FAST FACT

A BRAND NEW BIKE SHOP

AFTER

The A.S. Bike Shop moved into a brand new space this year after many years of discussion and planning. The new shop is a tangible result of the passage of the Students' Initiative in 2006 and the fulfillment of a vision that began with the shop's founding in 1974. Many staff and students were part of the planning process that moved the shop out of what had originally been two large shipping containers. Today, the fully finished Bike Shop building houses a repair shop, retail sales counter, and storage room for parts and bikes. The shop was designed with energy efficiency and sustainability in mind. Skylights light the interior spaces and energy efficient bulbs provide the remainder of the lighting.

The shop serves the campus community by providing bike repair workspaces, free training in bike maintenance, and professional repairs at competitive prices. Pretty much any bike part is available either onsite or by special order. In addition, interested students can apply for employment as bicycle mechanics, which includes a formal training program in bike maintenance and repair.

The shop also provides information about local cycling activities and supports alternative transportation initiatives. It's open weekdays and anyone can stop in for free air anytime day or night!

A.S. FAST FACT

During 2009-2010, Coastal Fund hosted 40 restoration events, 38 beach clean-ups, 18 street clean-ups, and 2 adopt-a-creek clean-ups. The Fund supported 67 different groups (893 total participants) to do this work!

STUDENTS PROTECT A.S. FUNDS

Students advocated for the A.S. career staff this year. A.S. staff, the Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs and the UC Office of the President worked to define areas that should be affected by staff furloughs necessitated by the state budget cuts to higher education. Students supported efforts to reconsider A.S. as a non-state funded entity, much like a research unit within the University. Their efforts resulted in ending the year-long furloughs imposed by the UC Office of the President after seven months. The student component of the campaign, spearheaded by A.S. President Charlie Arreola, reaffirmed the principle that students and not the UCSB administration control monies raised by students for programs through student referenda, since these fees are not part of the university's tax based public revenue stream. Although A.S. career staff members are university employees, their salaries are part of the independent A.S. budget.

The staff furloughs were part of cost cutting measures instituted by the UC Regents to restore funds lost due to dramatic cuts in state funding to the University of California. These measures also included a 32% fee hike to students. At UCSB and other UC campuses this was accompanied by cuts to classes, student programs, and reduced administrative support. The result has been increased pressure on A.S. to fund programs once funded through the Division of Student Affairs and other departments. The UCSB administration has also tried to access A.S. funds in various ways, but the students have prevailed arguing that the ballot language of the referenda is binding and that anything other than a strict interpretation of that language would fatally compromise the student elections process.

EIGHT

THE A.S. CAREER STAFF DEVELOPED A NEW MISSION STATEMENT THIS YEAR REFLECTING THEIR DEDICATION TO STUDENTS!

“We, the UCSB A.S. professionals, empower, mentor, guide, and support UCSB students to deepen and enhance civic engagement and social responsibility by:

- Facilitating learning through student initiated projects and programs.
- Ensuring student inclusion in shared governance of the university.
- Initiating and facilitating collaboration within the UCSB community and beyond.
- Safeguarding the continuity, financial stability, and institutional memory of the A.S. organization for current and future students.
- Respecting student agency to create their own path.”

NATIONAL EQUALITY MARCH, WASHINGTON DC 10/11/09

With funding from A.S., several students from UCSB were able to take to the streets in Washington, DC and march at the head of the National Equality March on October 11. It was the largest gay rights demonstration there in nearly a decade. The march and rally drew over a quarter of a million mostly younger marchers to urge the President and legislators to move more quickly to give gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender citizens equal rights and protections under federal law, including the right to marry. They also marched for the repeal of the military's "Don't ask, don't tell" orders that force gays in the military to hide their identity. The Clinton era policy has been debated here on campus for over 10 years and has now been discredited by numerous studies concerning morale in the military.

The demonstrators are frustrated by the slow pace of change under a President who included gay rights in his campaign platform. Known as Stonewall 2.0 or the Prop. 8 Generation, these activists in their 20s and 30s are also impatient with other advocates who urge patience while Obama deals with other issues. In fact, the demonstrators encountered opposition from prominent openly gay politicians and advocates, including Representative Barney Frank of Massachusetts, well known for his outspokenness.

During the week following the march, the students chosen to represent UCSB convened an informational panel that met in the Student Resource Building multi-purpose room to share their experiences. The panelists spoke about the high points of their trip to Washington and how they will take new initiatives in their own lives because of their experiences. A recurring theme was the feeling of empowerment that came with marching at the head of so many supporters of the cause, both queer and allies. As one participant pointed out "anyone can be an activist" and it's important to recognize this and speak out!

It's also important to have a supportive and informed campus community, which is why Queer Commission sponsors events such as the annual Queer Pride Week and Queer Wedding and works with other campus groups to raise awareness about the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Intersex, Queer, Questioning (LGBTIQQ) community and its allies.

NINE

A.S. FAST FACT

Queer Commission worked with the UCSB Queer Student Union to host a range of events during the annual spring quarter Queer Pride Week culminating in the Queer Wedding officiated by Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs Dr. Michael Young. The wedding ceremony held in Storke Plaza allowed members of the Lesbian, Gay, Transexual, Intersex, Gay, Questioning (LGBTIQQ) community and allies to make public commitments of support to each other.

ZOMBIE APOCALYPSE DEBATE

A.S. Program Board (ASPB) works hard to bring cutting edge student-oriented programming to the UCSB campus. This year, ASPB hosted the Zombie Apocalypse Debate with professors from various fields speaking in support of their given fields of inquiry. Inspired by the “Life Raft Debate” broadcast on National Public Radio’s This American Life the event was meant to be symbolic of an increasingly competitive UC and public education system in general. In the Program Board Zombie Debates, professors from seven UCSB academic departments held a simulated academic discussion about a fast-spreading zombie outbreak that had already wiped out most of humanity. Each professor was given a chance to explain to the audience why his or her academic discipline would deserve the sole remaining place in a safe house meant to contain the means to rebuild human civilization after the zombie apocalypse.

Although the debates were presented with humorous intent, the current state and university-wide financial crisis gave them real world resonance as UCSB departments have indeed been forced to cut staff and class offerings.

For a complete description of the A.S. Budget Process please see Article V of the A.S. By-Laws and the A.S. financial policies, both available at as.ucsb.edu

In consultation with the President and Executive Director, the Finance Board Chair prepares budget packets to be transmitted by the appropriate Advisors to every Board, Committee, Council, or Commission.

The Chair of Finance Board reports to Legislative Council regarding the process and projections for the next year's budget.

Budget hearings are held for each group to justify their requests to Finance Board and Legislative Council members.

Finance Board recommends a budget to the A.S. President, the President then presents the Finance Board with his/her preliminary budget. The final budget is sent to Legislative Council for a final vote.

* Students have stipulated in the A.S. Legal Code that A.S. will only invest in socially responsible companies. To this end A.S. changed brokers between 2009 and 2010. While research was being done to find a brokerage specializing in socially responsible investments, A.S. investment funds were held in a money market account and not accounted as Investment Marketable Securities. This appears as significant increase in Investment Marketable Securities when the funds were reinvested in the market in 2010 with highly respected Calvert Investments.

**PREPAID EXPENSES: A.S. is an independent non-profit and therefore not part of the university accounting system. When the university undertakes building or other projects on behalf of A.S. the university requires that A.S. prepay the estimated cost of the project into a university account from which the university then draws as the project progresses. These prepaid expenses were unusually high in 2009 because they included the expenses associated with the building of the new bike shop.

PARDALL CARNIVAL

On Saturday, October 2, the Pardall Carnival returned to the streets of Isla Vista. Started by students last year, the carnival reaches out to the entire community and brings together students and local families. Activities at the carnival range from a stage hosting DJs and karaoke to a variety of rides, including a miniature Ferris wheel, spinning cups, and more. One favorite for kids and adults alike is the dunk tank. When the bull's eye is hit various A.S. executive officers got a good soak.

As in the previous year, this year's festival made use of the redesigned Pardall corridor to showcase a variety of organizations serving students and the larger community. The groups featured included CALPIRG, the Environmental Affairs Board, the Santa Barbara Fire Department, SB Menus, Community Affairs Board, KCSB, Students for Justice in Palestine, and the UCSB Wellness Program.

The carnival was well attended. It succeeded in providing fun, alcohol-free entertainment and informing the public about the many services A.S. and other student-initiated programs provide. It is well on its way to becoming another popular Isla Vista tradition that began with students' creativity and funding from A.S.
